NEW ZEALANDER JUNIOR LEADS AFTER DAY ONE

Two races and two first places counts JOSH JUNIOR from New Zealand after first day of open FINN EC for juniors and seniors. The competition is sailed in Split aquatorium with JK Labud as organizing authority.

On the wings of south westerly wind 10 to 15 kn he succeed to be first in both races on race course being set between islands of Ciovo and Solta so being a leader of fleet counting 71 sailor from 30 countries.

"It was difficult today, unstable conditions but started well and finished well for me" said smiling 26 years old New Zealander Junior. He added that he has been inspired by strong opponents and that racing area of Split suits to him.

On his back second after first day is Egor Terpiogorev fro Russia who took third position in first race and was second in the other, just in photo finish with Croatian Ivan Kljakovic –Gaspic, who after two races holds 14th position due to 26th position in first race.

“I am not satisfy with my sailing today”, said YC Labud Finn no.1, “I did a mistake having selected wrong side in first race. I hope to discard this race, but now I do not have space for new mistakes. However, when I am under pressure I always sail my best” he concluded through not a very happy smile.

With 2nd and 10th positions Russian junior Arkadiy Kistanov holds third position.

Among Croatians entered the event best after first day is one with the least experience in Finn class – Nenad Bugarin (YC Labud) who is on the 10th position overall.

“I am happy with sailing in first race, I took 4th place and I must admit that this gave a wind in my back at the very beginning” said the 22 years old Nenad who is in Finn class since one year and half ago. “Finally he added: “With 23rd position in second race I am holding third position for juniors. However, regatta is at very beginning and there shall be opportunities and threats until the end”

Nenad Bugarin (CRO) was hanging on Egor Terpiogorev's (RUS) stern.

On his back 11th is another sailor from YC Labud, Josip Olujic who counted 18th and 9th positions.

Milan Vujasinovic of YC Split with 29th and 11th place holds 20th position overall.

On Wednesday two races are scheduled and first start is expected at 1 o'clock p.m.

Finn sailors antropological measurments scientific project

YC Labud is proud of doing an extra step when organizing this championship. Curiosity is in the fact that, after a sequence of Finn events started 18 years ago, now in 2015 YC Labud is assisting University of Physical Education whose three scientists are running scientific project of antropological measurements of Finn sailors. University invested in expensive equipment after decision had been done to start with project.

Dr.sci Mladen Marinovic, head of water sports (sailing and rowing) cathedra on University of Physical Education is explaining:

“For 16 years I am working with Ivan Kljakovic-Gapic, and searching after various details linked to his physical preparations I found no data to my satisfaction. Now I am helping, together with my colleague dr.sci. Mirjana Milic, our younger colleague mr. Luka Pezelj to complete his doctorate dissertation linked to body constitution of Finn sailors.”

So those three scientists has measured 63 Finn sailors (veterans were excluded :!) wishing to recognize scientifically Finn sailors body constitution characteristics.

While taking the measurements of chest and fat ratio of sailor Tudor Bilic (YC Trogir, CRO) they further explain:

“We are taking many various data, static and dynamic, balance, constitution of the body i.e. muscle mass, fat mass, water and all measures that we shall need for determination of antropological characteristics linked to Finn sailors. For the first time we are measuring chest, better to say depth of the chest.

Final goal of the study is to achieve precise picture of physical predispositions for sailors preferring to be successful in this Olympic class.”

GUESS THE WINNER!

Dear sailors, guests and friends,

We are exceptionally pleased to have you here in our Club and Split on the occasion of 2015 Finn European Championship.

For entertainment we have prepared the game: GUESS THE WINNER!

Who will be three best ranked sailors, who will take gold, who will take silver and who will be bronze – you can place your guess in Club Café buy buying a bear at price of 11 HRK. This bear shall be stored until prize giving ceremony and after the medallists receive their prizes all the stored bear shall be handed to those who placed the best guess. The destiny of the bear will be decided by the “bear winners”. :)

The guesses may be placed until Friday evening.

INJURY

Before first race started we have one injury reported. Young Portuguese Alex Muscat stacked and fell during moving his boat on plateau. Luckily all has finished with scratch above the right leg knee. Regatta doctor was satisfy with intervention of regatta secretary Rudolfa who had cleaned the wound and Alex was fit to sail first race.
